Guaranty Bank Account Disclosure and Privacy Notice
Illinois (August 1, 2012)

Refer to our Interest Rate sheet for current interest rates, annual percentage yields, frequency of compounding/crediting of interest, and minimum balances to open, earn the annual percentage yield and avoid fees. When referring to daily balance, it is the daily principal in the account at the end of each day. We use the daily balance method to calculate the interest on your account. This method applies a daily periodic rate to the principal in the account each day. We may require a seven-day notice in writing before each withdrawal from an interest-bearing account other than a time deposit account. Accounts with a zero balance for at least two months are assumed to be no longer in use and will be closed. The bank has the right to change the terms of the account with notice to the customer as required by law.

CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT (CD)

The Interest Rate on your account will be paid through the first certificate term. For Compounding Certificates, the Annual Percentage Yield assumes the interest will remain in the account until maturity and that a withdrawal reduces earnings.

Transaction Limitations: Except as listed below, you may not deposit to your certificate account until the maturity date. The Savings for the Future 1-year add-on certificate allows deposits of any amount at anytime. Credited interest may be withdrawn without penalty at any time during the term that it's earned. The penalty for withdrawal of principal prior to a maturity date is a loss of interest, whether earned or not, on the amount withdrawn for the number of days listed below based on the interest rate being paid at the time of withdrawal. Penalties are waived in the case of death or incompetence.

Savings for the Future CD and CD terms under 1 year: 90 days'

Terms 1 year and over: 180 days'

If the account falls below the minimum balance required, it shall be considered a withdrawal of the entire balance and be subject to the penalty described above.

Account Renewals: Your account will automatically renew at maturity (7-month CD will renew to a 6-month CD, 13-month CD will renew to a 1-year CD). You will have 7 calendar days after the maturity date to withdraw funds without penalty. During the 7-day grace period interest will be paid at the rate on the last day of the term to the date of withdrawal.

Accrual of Interest on Non-Cash Deposits: Interest begins to accrue on the business day you deposit non-cash items (for example, checks).

Fees: If the account is closed within 120 days of opening, there is a $50 early closing fee. Also refer to Retail Services and Prices.

OVERDRAFT SERVICE INFORMATION

What is an Overdraft?

Overdrafts occur when withdrawals from your account exceed your available balance. The available balance is the current account balance minus any amounts on hold due to (1) checks that have been deposited or cashed, or (2) debit card transactions that have been authorized but have not posted to the account.

The bank, at its discretion, may authorize and pay overdrafts if you don't have a sufficient available balance in your checking or money market account and overdraft fees will apply. Excessive usage of the overdraft service will result in significant overdraft fees. Whether your overdrafts will be paid is discretionary, which means we do not guarantee that we will authorize and pay any type of transaction and we reserve the right not to pay. For example, we typically do not pay overdrafts if your account is not in good standing, or you are not making regular deposits. Transactions we may pay include checks and other transactions made using your checking account number, automatic bill payments, and preauthorized automatic debits, telephone-initiated or electronic transfers.

Permission for ATM and everyday debit card transactions

We will get your permission to apply overdraft services to ATM and everyday debit card transactions. If you do not enroll (Opt In) to the courtesy overdraft service for ATM and everyday debit card transactions, these transactions will typically be declined when you don't have a sufficient available balance and you will not be charged overdraft fees for these transactions. Everyday debit card transactions do not include recurring debits such as debit card purchases that are set up to bill automatically (for example, gym membership) and overdraft fees will apply if you are overdrawn due to recurring debit card transactions.

What overdraft fees will I be charged?

Overdraft fees include an Overdraft/NSF fee of $37 for each item paid with insufficient funds and $35 for each item paid with unavailable funds (funds on hold), a Charge to Return Check/item fee of $37 for each item returned due to insufficient funds and $35 for each item returned due to unavailable funds, and a $36 one-time consecutive day overdrawn fee charged on the 5th business day your account remains consecutively overdrawn. When a transaction brings your account balance below $0, the insufficient funds fee applies. When a transaction accesses funds subject to a check hold or debit card authorization hold, the unavailable funds fee applies. Business days are Monday-Friday and exclude Saturday, Sunday and federal holidays all bank branches are closed.

More than one overdraft fee can apply each day

If multiple items are withdrawn from your account and you have insufficient funds in your account to cover those items, you will be charged an overdraft fee for each item. For example, if you have $15 in your account and you write a $20 check, withdraw $30 at the ATM and your gym membership of $50 is withdrawn, you will have spent $100 but you only have $15 in your account and you will be charged 3-$37 overdraft fees, one fee for each item or a total of $111.

If multiple items are withdrawn from your account and you have unavailable funds in the account to cover those items due to a check hold, you will be charged an overdraft fee (unavailable funds) for each item. For example, if you have $100 in your account but that amount is on hold due to a check deposit, if you write a $20 check, withdraw $30 at the ATM and your gym membership of $50 is withdrawn, you have spent $100 but you do not have any available funds in your account and you will be charged 3-$35 overdraft fees, one fee for each item, or a total of $105.

Repaying an overdrawn balance

You must repay an overdraft as soon as possible to avoid the consecutive day overdrawn fee. If your account remains overdrawn for 43 consecutive business days the bank will force close the account.

Transaction Processing Order

Overdraft fees are assessed during nighttime processing. Credits will generally be processed before debits and transactions will generally be processed in the following order based on date/time: direct deposits, teller transactions, ATM, telephone, and online banking transactions, Easy Advance repayments, debit card transactions, ACH, checks in check number order, interest, and service charges. Service charges could bring your account negative.

Overdraft Notices

You will receive an overdraft notice when your account becomes overdrawn. You will not receive a notice each day the account remains consecutively overdrawn.

How you can reduce or avoid overdraft fees

- Keep track of your account and available balance. Your current available balance is printed on transaction receipts, available via INFO Line at 800-235-4636 and displays in Online Banking.
